TRANCE, AT 16 TO 5, WON OZONE STAKE IN A ROMP

BY VINCENT TREANOR.

AQUEDUCT RACE TRACK, April 20.—The Ozone Stakes, the biggest puzzle of the season to layers and players alike, went to Trance, which repeated her hollow victory in the Rose Stakes of last Thursday Pittsburg 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 1 0-1 and also equalled the track record of 46 2-5 seconds. She won going away, after leading most of the distance. The race was the feature bell and McLean. Umpire-Righer. of the card here to-day.

Mr. Ryan also explained partly about the use of the $600,000 paid for the unbuilt Wall Street Ferry and railway line, as told exclusively in The Evening World. The money was apparently spent solely for political purposes. In his testimony on this point Mr. Ryan said:

Other Work of the Jury.

The jury's investigation had included also a close inquiry into the banking situation here and the action of the lee Trust officials. In regard to the banks and the financial crisis of last fall, the jury reported that it believed that there was "no widespread dishonesty in local banking circles but that it was confined to a single group of bankers combined in the control of several institutions."

Indictments had been previously handed in by this Grand Jury against William R. Montgomery, former president of the Hamilton National Bank, three; Edward R. Thomas, three; Orlando F. Thomas, one, and Charles W. Morse, three.
